TWO MEN SLAIN NEAR URBANA

MURDER VICTIM IS AVENGED BY BROTHER

Slayer of Champaign County Farmer Trapped in Ravine and Killed

PUTS UP BATTLE

Milton Keernan and "Johnnie" Oiler Lose Lives in Double Tragedy

Urbana, O., July 7.—The slaying of Milton Keernan, 35, Champaign county farmer, resulted in a double tragedy shortly before noon today when "Johnnie" Oiler, 37, his alleged slayer, was shot and killed by William Keernan, brother of the slain farmer.

Following the fatal shooting of Milton Keernan, early today, Oiler disappeared from the Keernan farm, and a posse was organized to search for the man.

William Keernan, coming upon footprints, followed them to a ravine, where he discovered Oiler in hiding. Without warning it was said, Oiler fired upon William Keernan but missed. Keernan returned one shot, which felled Oiler with a bullet through his temple.

William Keernan was to be arraigned on a formal charge this afternoon, but it is said he will be exonerated as three witnesses who were with him will testify that he shot in self defense.

Motive for the murder of Milton Keernan who resided near here, is unexplained. Keernan was killed in his barn as he was hitching a team of horses, and while his wife was looking on.

Oiler, a mentally defective, had resided with the Keernans since his release from a hospital for mentally defective about six months ago. He and Keernan had served together in the U. S. Army in the Philippines.

According to Mrs. Keernan, Oiler walked into the barn and exclaimed: "Now I have you both," as he brandished a .22 calibre revolver. "No, Johnnie," remonstrated Keernan, "according to his wife's story. As he approached Oiler a shot rang out and Keernan fell dead with a bullet through his heart.

NOTED BELGIAN CAPITALIST DISAPPEARS

A veil of mystery shrouds the disappearance of Captain Alfred M. Loewenstein, Belgian capitalist reputed for years to be the world's "third richest man," who vanished from an airplane in which he was flying over the English Channel from London to Brussels. Captain Loewenstein, shown above with his wife, will be remembered for the lavishness of his expenditures and the great retinue of servants which accompanied his family during their travels in the United States.

Prohibition Almost Sure To Be Paramount Issue of Campaign, is Indication

Opinion That Wet and Dry Question Cannot Be Kept from Overshadowing Other Questions Expressed by Leaders of Both Parties

Washington, July 7.—The prevailing winds of national politics since the final gavel fell at the Kansas City and Houston conventions are daily pointing more and more toward prohibition becoming the paramount issue in the November election.

That is the opinion of most of the leaders of both parties who have returned to the capital this week. It is an opinion, however, that is for the most part privately expressed. Publicly, they say, it is not a partisan issue; privately, they admit they do not see how it can be kept out of it as the campaign develops.

Some of the leaders, both Republican and Democratic, are hopeful that the issue will become paramount because they "would like to see the thing settled." Others are fearful and uneasy over the prospect because they can not see the outcome with any degree of clarity.

"Prohibition is not an issue," said Dr. Hubert Work, the generalissimo. "It should be kept out of the campaign, just as religion should."

POLICE BELIEVE NITROGLYCERIN USED IN JOB

Escape with $165.21 After Blowing Combinations from Doors

DEADEN SOUND

Robbery Fourth at Local Plant in Recent Years

Packing a quantity of old clothes around the door, to deaden the sound of the explosion, safe blowers wrecked the safe in the office of the Marion County Lumber Co., Bellefontaine av., last night and escaped with $165.21 in cash.

That the job was the work of men experienced in the use of nitro-glycerine, is the belief of the police, as just enough of the explosive had been used to blow the combinations from both the outside and inside doors. After pouring the "slop" around the combination of the outer door, which had been carefully blocked with soap, the yegs covered the door with overalls and other pieces of old clothing they laid and gathered up around the plant, holding them in place with a thin cabinet, attached a wire to the light socket and fired off the charge.

The same procedure was carried out in getting the inside door open. The contents of the safe were rifled but nothing but the money which was contained in a money drawer, was taken. The robbery was discovered by employees when they reported for work this morning. One of the double doors leading into the mill building from the rear standing open, aroused the suspicions of the men and an investigation showed a window broken in a rear door leading into the office.

The visit of the safe crackers last night, was the fourth time within the past several years, that the safe at the Marion County Lumber Co., has been cracked. On previous occasions, however, the more unskilled methods of hammering the combination from the door, was used.

A question as to the source of the supply of glycerin used by safe crackers at police headquarters this morning following the report of the robbery, brought out the information that it is made from dynamite usually stolen from storekeepers. The explosive, according to Chief of Police Thompson, is hidden until a thick syrup mixture oozes to the top of the water. This mixture is skimmed off and constitutes the glycerin used by safe blowers.

7-YEAR-OLD BOY ATTACKED BY DOG

James Shafer, Erie st., Seriously Injured; Officials Make Investigation

James Shafer, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Shafer, 203 Erie st., is suffering from wounds on his head, both legs and right arm as the result of being attacked by a dog belonging to the Mewharter family, 319 Owens st., yesterday, local health department officials report.

According to members of the Shafer family the boy was passing the pen in which the dog is kept when the animal suddenly emerged and attacked him. The dog was tied, but in passing the pen the boy got within range of his chain. Others say, however, that the Shafer boy with some other children had been teasing the animal and he had suddenly got within range of the animal.

RETAIL STORES ELECT MARION MAN PRESIDENT

Wilfred Schaffner Attends Annual Meet of Century Furniture Associates

Wilfred Schaffner of the H. Schaffner Furniture Co. has been elected president of the Century Furniture Associates, an organization composed of 22 retail furniture stores located in the central and eastern section of the United States.

The election took place at the fourth annual meeting held recently in the Century Hotel at Chicago. Other of guests elected were H. M. Ballard, Jr., of New Haven, Conn., vice president, and John B. Veach, of Oil City, Pa., secretary and treasurer.

The stores comprising the organization do a $12,000,000 retail business each year it is said. Four new stores were elected to membership at the last meeting. One of the outstanding features of the organization is the advertising and research service the stores carry on. Each month a report on stock conditions, turn over, expense and other items is prepared for each store and made available to the members.

The aggregate age of the stores comprising the organization is more than 700 years.

KOON TO BEGIN FIGHT FOR LIFE IN LOCAL COURT

Hearing for Alleged Slayer on First Degree Charge

TWO COUNTS

Homer E. Johnson, Defense Counsel, May Plead Insanity for Client

Within the next week, Everett Koon, alias "Cotton Head", will likely know whether he is to go free, spend the remainder of his life behind the gray walls of Ohio penitentiary or die in the electric chair.

At 9 o'clock Monday morning Koon will go on trial in common pleas court here for the murder of Henry Koon, aged Marion township farmer. Two counts on a first degree murder charge hang over Koon's head. He was indicted June 6, last, by a special grand jury in common pleas court on a charge of "murder, and murder while attempting to commit and committing a robbery."

The penalty for conviction on either count is death in the electric chair. A recommendation for mercy by the jury is the only thing that can save the prisoner from this fate in case he is found guilty.

Johnson, Defense Counsel

Homer E. Johnson, appointed by the court as counsel for the prisoner, has not indicated definitely upon what his defense will be based. There is a possibility that he may plead insanity for the prisoner, but this appeared slight today when he stated that he realized there were certain changes in introducing a plea of this kind. The attorney also indicated that he may attempt to have the confession, alleged by city police to have been made by Koon, set aside by the court.

Six of seven witnesses will be called by the defense, Attorney Johnson said today.

Presenting Attorney Frank Wiedemann stated that he would subpoena approximately 20 witnesses.

The jury will be picked from a special venire of 65 persons, summoned for service were served more than three weeks ago to the prospective jurors.

Home Killing Recalled

Nation's Moral Structure Menaced by Crime of Perjury, Woman Judge Asserts

Cedar Point, O., July 7.—Stressing the importance of attorneys and judges co-operating to teach the "community" the significance of the crime of perjury—a crime which threatens the whole moral structure of our civilization—Judge Florence E. Allen of the Ohio supreme court addressed the judicial section of the Ohio State Bar association here yesterday on "Legal Ethics and Technicalities."

On increase, she stated, perjury, according to Judge Allen, is on the increase because people in general think lightly of it.

"In my judgment, the reason it is difficult to punish those guilty of this crime, perjury, is not merely that perjury is a somewhat technical crime to prove," the supreme court judge explained. "The real crux of the difficulty in securing conviction of perjury is that the people in general think lightly of the crime of perjury. Decent, honorable, truthful men and women who sit on a jury hesitate to send other men and women to the penitentiary for false testimony when the crime of perjury is actually proved."

"This means they do not understand the basic importance of truth-telling in the courts. When truth is not told in the courts the whole foundation totters, because the doing of justice necessarily implies that the conclusion be based upon the facts."

Suggests Change

Judge Allen also suggested a change in our laws as to legal technicalities which she declared have "embarrassed the work of our judicial machine."

"There must be a well-ordered method of presenting cases, both in pleading and at the trial," she declared. "The judge submitted that there is too much "one-trick" in presenting cases and suggested its elimination.

NOT AFRAID OF TIGERS

Miss Mabel Stark, the only girl in the world with sufficient nerve to wrestle "Kajah," a ferocious Royal Bengal tiger, is one of the outstanding features of the 1928 performance of John Robinson's Circus. Miss Stark will display her daring when the Robinson Circus comes to Marion for afternoon and night exhibitions on Saturday, July 14.

Known throughout the entire world as the foremost woman animal trainer of the present generation, Miss Stark handles groups of savage jungle bred animals that a male subjugator would hesitate to train. In addition to wrestling "Kajah," Miss Stark will appear in an acrobatic display with 15 fighting Siberian tigers. Additional famous subjugators with the Robinson Circus are Theodore Schneider, Capt. Terrell Jacobs, Margaret Thompson and Bert Noys.

Boy Scouts Will Help in Conducting Party, July 16

(By Just Kids Safety Club Editor) A GAIN the Boy Scouts will aid these in charge of the "Just Kids Safety Club" Tater-Out Day party at Crystal Lake park, Monday, July 16.

Scout Executive W. C. Brown has promised that there will be picnics at the swimming pool, stationed along the wall so that no one can accidentally get over into the deep water. The park management will have the regular life guard there and several others drafted for service that day. Although there were no accidents decks at the swimming pool June 11, every precaution was taken that there would be no accidents. Scouts will set up a first aid post on the grounds, and there will be stationed every where to see that no one is hurt.

The picnic will be a day for the boys and girls, and the adults will be able to play for a change. There will be a 6:30 clock, and a band in the main grounds.

Way not here, neither back the fence and then out, when they through work, come out and have a good time. Scouts will be under the trees, after a while of the labor.

How's the picnic starting? Don't forget that there will be show movements, so be ready and those delightful trophies that simply should not be overlooked.

Letters are beginning to come in to Allison Bain. Have you written yours? Surely you have some game, some contest that is your favorite, and that would rather play than anything else.

That will be a day for just K. K. and when people know that they should do just what they like to most. Monday night a list of everything that will be needed to you will be published, and maybe a few more good things that have been planned for you. Watch The Star!

NEW CHRYSLER PLYMOUTH

A New Car .. A New Car Style .. A New Zenith of Low Priced Car-Luxury and Performance

New slender profile chromium-plated radiator—Long, low bodies.—Generous room for 2 to 5 passengers, according to body model.—Luxurious deep upholstery and appointment detail.—New "Silver-Dome" high-compression engine, for use with any gasoline.—Smooth speed up to 60 and more miles an hour.—Chrysler light-action internal expanding hydraulic four-wheel brakes—no other car of this price possesses this feature.

All Chrysler research, engineering and manufacturing have been inspired by the fundamental motive of giving ever greater quality and value for each dollar of car cost. Public recognition of this principle, in four years advanced Chrysler from 17th to 3rd place in sales in the N. A. C. C.

With a new product—the Plymouth—Chrysler is the first to give, at so low a price, the advantages of performance, riding ease, dependability and full ad-size which characterize fine cars of higher price.

The new Chrysler-designed and Chrysler-built Plymouth is so revolutionary an advance over other low-priced cars, it is such conclusive evidence that the past year's strides in the science of manufacturing have multiplied the purchasing power of the motor car dollar, that you will surely want to see it and drive it.

And above all, you must see its beautiful lines and finish, and stretch at ease in its deep-upholstered, full adult-size bodies, to comprehend how completely the Plymouth surpasses cars heretofore sold under $700.

The Plymouth is today displayed by every Chrysler dealer. He wants you to see it and to ride in it.

Please submit the Plymouth to this trial. We believe you will discover there has never been a car anywhere near its price that can approach the Plymouth for power, pick-up, smoothness, easy handling, safety, quietness and roominess—nor that can equal it in beauty and style.

CONSTRUCTION WORK GREAT DURING JUNE

Month's Activities Raises Total Volume of All Types of Building

Washington, July 7—June witnessed the greatest volume of construction work ever carried on in the United States during a single month, according to statistics just compiled by the Associated General Contractors of America. Last month's record-breaking activities raised the total volume of all types of construction work handled during the first half of this year to a figure substantially above that registered for the corresponding period of 1927.

The figures, based upon shipments of construction materials, show that last month's volume was 32 per cent greater than the total recorded for May and 15 per cent greater than the figure registered for June of last year. The increase over the May total was the greatest ever to be recorded during the period of one month.

Indications are that the mid-summer months will not see a slackening of the rapid pace set during recent weeks. The volume of contracts awarded during May was the greatest ever recorded for a single month, presaging high future activity. The volume of contracts awarded during the first five months of this year exceeded the total for the corresponding period of 1927 by 12 per cent.

Mortgage Total For Week Soars High as Two Loans, Totalling $40,000, Are Let

Two Mortgages of $20,000 Each, on Marion Real Estate, Boosts Amount to $110,045.44 for Period Ending Yesterday; Transfers Number 29

Two mortgages of $20,000 each, secured on Marion real estate, boosted the mortgage total to $110,045.44 for the week ending July 6. With a total of less than $7,000 for the county property, the city's mortgage total was $103,000, putting this week in eighth place for the year.

One of the $20,000 mortgages boosted the total loaned by individuals to $27,007.44. The loan companies, as usual, took the big share of the business with a total of $86,718. Banks placed only $1,300.

Last week's loans were $58,111.76 on city property and $10,783.15 on property outside the city.

Real estate transfers this week numbered 20, two more than last week. The total number of mortgages, however, was four less than last week's total of 27.

NEW BUILDING VALUE NEAR FOUR BILLION

Construction Total High in U. S. for First Six Months of Year

Chicago, July 7.—New building begun in the United States in the first six months of this year has a total of about $3,700,000,000.

This was shown in a nationwide survey today by President A. E. Dickinson of the Indiana Limestone company, based on reports from several hundred cities and towns.

The June building total of approximately $700,000,000, based on preliminary reports provided the third consecutive record-breaking month in volume of contracts awarded, President Dickinson said.

"In the nation as a whole the volume of new building is about 6 per cent over the total for the first six months of last year, and is five per cent over the 1926 record," he declared.

"Signs point to continued general prosperity despite the fancied apocalypticness of presidential campaigns, and the recent price quotations of over-bullied stocks."

"Less unemployment exists, farm conditions are better, the commodity price level has been mildly upward, and there has been an almost complete absence of speculative buying inside of the stock market."

"It is likely that 1928 will chalk up a new high record for volume of new building."

New Potato Market Prices Hold Steady During Week

Prices governing the new potato market, provided the annual on the market this week. Opening the week as from 20 to 30 cents a bushel for No. 1 stock, the price has held steady all week to the surprise of dealers. The price today found prices unchanged from Monday. Old potatoes have occupied an inconspicuous place on the market. Whereas other years found a ready sale for old potatoes at a fair price, this year they are not selling readily. Should the present prices on new potatoes continue, it is a matter of conjecture what will happen when the homegrown varieties come on the market.

Other phases of the vegetable markets were quiet all week, prices showing but little change during the entire period. Supplies appeared to be ample and dealers reported buying about normal. Peas continued plentiful. A price of three pounds for 25 cents, quoted by dealers early in the week, governed the market for the entire seven days.

Watermelons were scarce all week, a few being carried by dealers that were selling at $1 each. The high prices asked by the wholesaler, is given by the dealers as the reason for the very limited supply. California fruits were supplying a large demand and the prices today were the same as has prevailed all week. Red plums and apricots were selling at 20 and 25 cents and green plums at 15 cents.

This week will see the end of the strawberry crop, growers say. A few berries were on the market all week and a price of 25 cents, asked the early part of the week, was reduced to 20 cents today. Blackberries sold at 20 and 24 cents all week and black raspberries at 25 cents a pint.

A small town is the place in which even the poorest has green peas and strawberries in their season.

Wall Street Moves Forward Buoyantly During Short Session

MOTOR STOCKS AND SPECIALTIES LEAD

Studebaker Heads Automobile Group with New High Price

REPORTS ENCOURAGING

Active Buying in Better Grades Is Stimulated by Surveys

Markets at a Glance
NEW YORK, July 7.—Industrial stocks, firm; domestic bonds steady; foreign bonds steady; cotton irregular; grain easier; sugar firm; oil firm; copper firm; pig iron steady; foreign exchange easier.

BY W. S. COUSINS
International News Service Financial Editor

New York, July 7.—Under the lead of the motor stocks and the high priced specialties, the market moved up buoyantly in the first half of the day. West-end surveys of retail and wholesale trade lent plenty of encouragement to bullish sentiment, and stimulated active buying of the better grade of dividend industrial and railroad stocks. Unprecedented progress and profits of the leading mercantile establishments of the country reflected the expanding buying power of American wage earners, as well as the great rural districts to which these huge establishments cater. Montgomery Ward, Sears, Roebuck, Woodward and other of the well-known mercantile stores sold in good volume today at a higher range of prices.

Studebaker was again the leader of the popular motor car group and reached a new high for the movement at 73 to the accompaniment of reports of enormously expanding production and output. The introduction of new models tomorrow and Monday is expected to stimulate a still larger expansion of the business of the company, the latest addition being a new eight-cylinder President on a smaller chassis, to sell below $2,000 delivered. Nash and Chrysler moved upward moderately in the first period, but encountered considerable opposition a point or two above the previous close.

Cotton
New York, July 7.—Cotton opened from 7 points lower to 5 points higher with October at 22.50, December 22.34, January 22.12, March 22.12, May 22.00 and July 22.24.

Johannes Brahms Works

COMEDIAN ON RADIO PROGRAM

to Be Broadcast Monday

The works of Johannes Brahms, the great contemporary of Wagner, will be featured in the "Works of Great Composers" hour to be broadcast over the National Broadcasting system at 9 o'clock Monday night.

In spite of the near-revolution stirred up by the works of Wagner, Brahms continued to write in the classical forms which had been given great prestige by the German master, Beethoven. The first selection to be heard will be the "Academic Festival Overture."

Frank Moulan, comedian, one of the original members of Rose's Gang, will be back under the old banner again Monday night, when the weekly program of the "gang" is broadcast over the National Broadcasting system at 9:30 o'clock.

A 20-minute program of song hits and novelty dance arrangements will be broadcast by the Fish "Time-to-Listen" boys and orchestra over the NBC system at 9:30 o'clock, Monday night.

Band music including several marches will be heard over the NBC system at 8 o'clock when the Riverside Trail Blazers will broadcast.

Popular music will be featured in the program to be given by the Twin "Tairs of Harmony" over the NBC system at 6 o'clock.

Luigi's "Ballet Egyptian," included by Verdi in the 18th performance of his opera, "Aida," will be played as the opening number on the hour of Shmoo Music to be broadcast through the NBC system at 10 o'clock Monday night.

CLEARINGS ADVANCE DURING PAST WEEK

Business in Five Days Greater by Nearly $10,000 Than
Last Week

Despite the fact that the week had but five business days, bank clearings for the past week ending Thursday night, were greater by nearly $10,000 than last week. This fact is pointed to by bankers as an indication of a very satisfactory increase in business.

A marked increase in clearings on any one day might mean, they say, an unusual large transaction has taken place, but with a steady increase each day it points to but one thing—a general increase in buying.

Clearings for the week, according to figures given out at the Marion County bank, totaled $905,241.21, compared to $590,650.55 last week. Clearings for Friday topped the week with a total of $175,901.59. Although all but two days found the clearings over the $100,000 mark, the amounts are indications of reasonably good business, bankers say.

Kid 'em Says Will

Do It in Everything Else, Why Not Politics? Camera Mightier Than Platform in Opinion of Those in Limelight

By WILL ROGERS

ALL I know is just what I read in the papers, and what I can remember of the days that passed lately at what was for lack of better names, Political Conventions.

It's been over a week, the last one, and I am just getting over it. Two straight weeks of Applesauce. "These are momentous times, the eyes of the World on us, let us act with foresight and deliberation." Now you heard that by every speaker. Now just take an apart and see why they fall over if you try and let em stand alone.

"These are momentous times." Now what is momentous about em? Time is time, momentous things happen to individuals, not to everybody at once. What might be momentous to one would just be wasting time to another. They are momentous times with the speaker. For if justice gets in due time the last time he will ever get to address a National Convention. The only Guy a Convention is momentous with is the bird that gets the nomination.

Short Nighted World. Then the prize prize of all, "The eyes of the World are upon us." Now if that is not insulting your intelligence! Whose eyes are on who? What's the World care what we are doing? What do we care what the World is doing? The eyes of the World is cockeyed as far as we are concerned. Why the eyes of our own Country are are. I believe they would go far. The eyes of the World are upon us. They can do that in everything else, why can't they do it in Politics?

Personally I think the Camera has done more harm for Politics than any other factor. Every body would rather get a picture than talk in the platform. What does the platform of a Political party amount to compared to this photography? There is 10 cameras to every plank in the platform. There was more film wasted on the two conventions than was wasted making the "King of Kings." Speakers get up early in the morning not to find out how their speech was received by the Press, but how the Pictures turned out. A woman wonder of somebody's nomination would rather have her candidate lose the election than to have missed the front page in the morning holding a picture of American Beauties in her arms.

Great Game

And some means should be worked out whereby you could keep track of the same thing said by various speakers over and over again. Each man comes to every plank in the platform. Just stands and repeats what has been said a thousand times before and generally better than he is saying it. Their Candidate's honesty is a thing that they dwell mightily heavy on. You would think from the nominating speeches that that was their outstanding qualification was honesty. They don't exactly say so, but they usually indicate that the Candidate on the other side will perhaps steal the White House if he is not carefully watched.

But it's a great game, this Convention game. I don't suppose there is a show in the World with so much sameness in it as it has got. You know exactly what each speaker is going to say before he says it. You know what the women wonderers will wear. You know before you go who will be nominated. You know the platform will always be the same, promise everything, deliver nothing. I really don't think any such proceedings could be carried on in any other civilized country in the World except ours. You can yourself for sitting day in and day out and looking at your noses. But the next four years find you back there again. So it's really our mental exhaust.

NEW GRAIN BUYING METHOD PROPOSED

Hundred-Weight Basis May Replace Bushel Measure in Ohio

Middletown, O., July 7.—Grain growers throughout Ohio manifested interest today in proposals to change the method of buying grain in the state from a bushel basis to a hundred weight basis which will be discussed at the annual session of the southwestern Ohio group of the Ohio State Grain Dealers Association to be held here Aug. 2. According to Secretary Smith of the association, the majority of the grain dealers and shippers of southwestern Ohio are in favor of the change, basing their position on the fact that the new grain contains so much moisture that it is unsatisfactory both to the producers and handlers to buy it on the bushel basis, particularly because of the varying standards of weight for the bushel in the several states of the union and because of the difficulty in reaching settlements without intricate mathematical calculation.

ROAD RULING

County May Do Work in City Limits, Turner Says

Columbus, July 7.—Attorney General Edward C. Turner today ruled that county commissioners are authorized to establish a county road wholly within the limits of a municipality when the road is a connecting link between two state highways. This ruling was given to officials of the state bureau of inspection and supervision of public offices.

"Where a county road is properly established upon a street within the limits of a city, the county commissioners have the authority and duty to construct and maintain necessary bridges thereon," Turner held.

CLUB PLANS PICNIC

LaRue, July 7.—Mrs. Ed Wilcox and Mrs. Elma Riley were awarded contest honors at the meeting of members of the W. S. J. Club Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Leona Weist. The program included a paper, "The Origin of Swans River," and Miss Mabel Miller contributed a recitation, "Tombis." A piano number was given by Miss Mary Jennings Weist and the program closed with a reading, "Horse," by Miss Clara Miller. Plans were made for the annual picnic meeting in August.

Greatest 6 Months IN WILLYS-OVERLAND HISTORY!

Willys-Knight and Whippet sales already exceed total for 1927

2,000,000 Cars and Going Strong!

JULY marks the production of the two-millionth automobile by Willys-Overland. This event happily coincides with the culmination of the greatest 6 months in the company's 20-year history.

Production during the half-year just completed greatly exceeded the entire output of 1927. This unit volume now makes Willys-Overland the industry's third largest producer.

The reasons are plain:—

In the 4-cylinder Whippet the public is getting a light car value absolutely without parallel. Stylish, roomy bodies; tremendous power; BIG 4-wheel brakes; silent timing chain; full force-feed lubrication, and many other features.

The new Whippet Six is the world's lowest priced 6-cylinder car... and its surpassing quality is a matter of common knowledge. Demand has always exceeded production. Its powerful engine is equipped with 7-bearing crankshaft, larvar-strut pistons, silent timing chain. Force-feed lubrication.

The Willys-Knight Standard Six offers the exclusive advantages of the patented Willys-Knight double sleeve-valve engine at the lowest price in history. The Special Six and Great Six complete this masterly line of highest quality motor cars.

The body of a New York gangster was buried in a $15,000 silver casket. In New York that is certainly taking a chance on the disturbing of the remains.

There were sixty-two deaths by violence in Indiana during the first five days of this month. It is evident the Hoosiers have no occasion to worry about possible overpopulation.

Thirty-eight dead and 211 injured is the toll of New York City's "safe and sane" celebration of the Fourth. Think what the total might have been had those New Yorkers been a little careless!

A Chicago woman was arrested and fined for picking flowers off a grave up there. A few fines might stop similar desecration of graves down here. Let us hope that the plan may be given a try-out.

It's simply beyond our comprehension why four men should be arrested and fined down in Columbus within the last few weeks for kissing their wives in a parked automobile. The way it looks to us, a novelty like that should be encouraged.

The committee of traffic experts appointed to draft a model municipal traffic ordinance for the United States has reported in favor of three-color signal lights with "pedestrians having the right-of-way." Ah! There may yet be a chance for the survival of our true aristocrats of the land!

The contempt-of-court charges against George Remus have been quashed. If there is any further relief in the court line Mr. Remus desires, it should be apparent to him that the present is the psychological time for him to ask for it.

Wyndham Lewis, British artist, novelist and philosopher, at present visiting this country, says Americans got their sense of humor from the English, and have developed it to an amazing degree. We'll go this far with Wyndham: if that's where we got it, we certainly have developed it amazingly.

The Junkers monoplane, Bremen, in which Fitzmaurice, Koehl and von Huenfeld flew across the Atlantic, is said to have been stripped of all its movable parts by natives of the vicinity in which it landed. Why not? The fact that it was abandoned went to show that, contrary to reports sent out from Belle Isle strait, it was damaged beyond repair.

A Coshocton motorist had his head cut open when two youths to whom he was "giving a ride" attempted to rob him, one of them beating him over the head with a rock tied up in a handkerchief. Happily for him, he was able to throw them out and drive away before being weakened by his injuries. Write your own moral!

America's Gift to Belgium.

Editorial comment as well as news articles bearing on the new library of the University of Louvain make evident that there is a rather general misunderstanding in regard to the beautiful structure dedicated July 4.

There seems to be a very general impression that the new building is a restoration of the old Cloth Weavers' hall, completed in 1245, which housed the university library from 1432 to 1914 and, with 2,896 other buildings in the city and environs, was burned during the war.

Such is not the case. The new building is a work of construction rather than of restoration. Following the fire, only the blackened columns and heavy walls of the great hall were left standing, and they were raised. The upper stories, which were used for library purposes, were destroyed. Thus it was that, when the movement to make as nearly good as possible the great loss suffered by the university through the destruction of its library got under way, it was decided not to attempt to restore the old structure, but to erect an entirely new one. And as neither the location nor the shape of the site of the old hall met the requirements of the plans those interested in the movement had in mind, another location was sought and secured—a location on the Place du Peuple at the highest point in the city, and there the new library with its beautiful facade and its tall and graceful tower stands today—an evidence of American friendship for the people of Belgium and a tribute to the worth of the great university which for centuries has been to her a source of pride.

And it was from the new library tower, and not the old as has been stated, that the forty-eight bells—not eight as stated in one exchange—of the splendid carillon were sounded at the dedication, the bells and the four-faced clock, high up the tower, being the gift of American engineers in memory of those of their profession who "went west" during the war—forty-eight bells, one for each state of our union.

Not a Good Business Policy.

The claim has been made that any old kind of advertising is better than no advertising at all, but it will be a matter of extreme difficulty to get the management of the United States and Merchant lines and the United States shipping board to concede it. They, as well as our government itself, have come in for quite a lot of unpleasant criticism of late in the British house of commons, and the master of the London high court has held from the bench that the United States in foreign trading is acting exactly like the soviet government—taking advantage of diplomatic immunity to trade in Great Britain.

The undesirable publicity America is getting had its origin in the case of Miss Dorothy Russell, an American girl, for some years publicity manager of the United States lines in London. Miss Russell went to London on a yearly contract. December 31, 1927, she was dismissed on twenty-four hours' notice. As she went to London on a yearly contract, she was entitled under the British law to a year's notice or a year's salary. After months of negotiation, the United States lines offered her a month's salary. She refused the offer and sued.

When the matter came up before Master Simmer in the high court, last month, counsel for the United States lines made the statement that the lines were merely a "nebulousity," that they didn't exist. Master Simmer pointed out that then they were violating the British business names act. To this counsel responded that the United States lines was really only another name for the United States shipping board, which is a department of government and can not be sued.

The master was compelled to accept the plea, but advised further proceedings against the Merchant Fleet corporation, whereupon counsel told him the same plea would be entered in such case. The statement was also made that a passenger who lost baggage or suffered injury has no right to sue the lines for damages.

It's hardly the line of advertising any transportation interests would like. The fact that our lines can not be sued for injury to the persons or property of patrons is not liable to stimulate patronage. Naturally, the British, with their great shipping interests, are inclined to make the most of the situation. Very probably it would have been true economy had the United States lines followed the British law and paid Miss Russell a year's salary.

And here we have another argument against government ownership.

Five gangsters have been shot, within the last two weeks, while driving over the streets of New York City. The "war against King George" seems to be spreading.

But the Death Toll Remains.

Vigorous campaigning against the menace of fireworks has resulted in a remarkable reduction of Fourth of July casualties, that is, death and injury directly traceable to gunpowder.

But with the arrival of the automobile, which makes it possible for virtually all of the people to go places—which has opened up pleasure resorts and bathing beaches and jammed the highways with unprecedented traffic—the holiday death rate shows an inclination to grow, thus offsetting the good work accomplished in reducing the fireworks menace.

In the United States over the holiday there were 205 deaths from various causes, most of them resulting, however, from motor mishaps, swimming accidents and kindred things, but all traceable to the holiday. The fireworks victims were comparatively few in number—but the pleasure-bent folk who lost their lives in accidents of sorts more than made up for any delinquency from the other source.

It is too bad that the people don't take more care of themselves—that constant preaching does no good whatever. But so long as people go heedlessly on their way, paying no attention to the rights of others, or failing to safeguard themselves, just so long will there be casualty lists as long as a newspaper column following every mid-summer holiday.

There is little occasion for surprise over the fact that North Dakota voted dry. Most of the other forty-seven states probably would vote the same way, despite the assertions of the "personal liberty" champions.

An exchange says that "that threatened revolt in the Lone Star state begins to take on something of the aspect of a Texas steer." We don't get the idea, unless it is that the threatened revolt has gone to horns.

Sailing for the sixth successive year on July 4, the Leviathan carried 2,500 passengers, a new record, which may be taken to show that there are a lot of people who do not insist that a bar is an absolute essential to the enjoyment of travel on the seas.

Henry Ford has agreed to construct a macadamized road 125 miles long from Budapest to Szegedin on the condition that the Hungarian government permits his cars to enter Hungary free of duty so that they may be sold for $400. If General Motors and other big automobile companies get into line, Hungary may yet have a real highway system.

Evidences of a civilization of not less than 20,000 years ago have been unearthed in New Mexico. Fossils of an extinct species of buffalo and spearheads made of calcined and jasper, of a craftsmanship superior to any found outside of Egypt, were found in the same excavation. Scarcely a week passes that we do not have added proof of the folly of the assumption that civilization was limited for tens of thousands of years to the eastern hemisphere.

ANOTHER POLITICAL PARADE

Good Living Habits Needed.

BY ROYAL S. COVELAND, M. D.

After a severe illness, particularly prolonged, it is not at all uncommon for the victim to pull through, thus as a rule. But when there has been no such illness, we must look further for the reason.

What does it mean if we begin to lose weight? We always look upon pronounced emaciation as a sure sign of disease. But what disease?

You need not be fat in order to have good health. You need not be reasonably plump. You may be extremely thin and yet be perfectly well. It is the loss in weight which disturbs us.

Sometimes the loss of weight has gone on for months and perhaps nobody has noticed it. Sometimes the face retains its usual roundness long after the limbs and body have grown very thin. It is not until the vent or waistband becomes conspicuously loose that you awaken to the fact that your surplus flesh is melting.

The hands, particularly the backs of the hands, show the decline in flesh. The bones stand out because the fat between them has disappeared.

If you have been well nourished or fat and begin to lose weight, you should seek the cause. This is not a simple undertaking. It may be extremely difficult to locate the reason.

Unless the loss in weight can be readily traced to some definite cause, there are several possibilities which must be considered. The first thing to think about is whether or not you are the victim of some form of infection.

Bad teeth or gums, diseased tonsils, infected nasal sinuses, kidney involvement, digestive disturbance, disease of the bladder or neighboring parts—these are among the possibilities. It is well to see about this at once if you discover you are continuing to lose weight.

Diabetes and kidney disease are among the ailments which may cause the flesh to disappear. A test of the urine should be included in the thorough examination you are to have. This may show that the kidneys are out of order, or that the body is not handling as it should its intake of sugar.

It is a good idea to have the blood tested too. This may help the doctor to decide what is wrong with you. The quality of the blood is of the greatest importance.

Mildness of disease, fortunately, is not the most common of the causes for emaciation, but it must be thought of if some less serious ailment is not found. Disease of the stomach may not amount to anything more than slight ulceration, but if it turns out to be malignant disease of that vital organ, loss of flesh is very certain to result.

By eating the proper amounts of the right foods, practicing the rules of personal hygiene, giving yourself recreation, and keeping your mind in a state of peace and happiness, you are likely to escape all the conditions which make for bad health and loss in weight. It is easy to say this, but actually to establish the right manner of living means self-denial. When your good habits have become second nature you will go on, year after year, and never know an ache or a pain. You will be plump and fair to look upon. Try it and see.

DEMOCRACY DEAD IN ITALY.

Italy's new electoral law, passed several weeks ago by the chamber of deputies and now approved by the senate, is as much a triumph for Fascism as it is a blow to democratic principles. Perhaps never before in history has a civilized nation so completely repudiated hard-won constitutional liberties at the behest of a small group of men seeking to monopolize governmental authority. In the case of the Italian parliament there was next to no show of opposition; on the contrary, there was a ready eagerness to obey.

Through the action of the two chambers, representative government in the land of Garibaldi has virtually committed suicide. The system prescribed by the new law will set up government by the executive council of the Fascist party, which, according to the philosophy of Premier Mussolini, becomes in integral organ of the state. The so-called parliament of the future will be a strictly consultative, advisory body, its members owing their places to the council. The legally-recognized trade and professional syndicates, thirteen in number, likewise are to be part of the machinery of the Fascist state, but their power will extend no further than the selection of candidates in quotas fixed above and the submission of their lists to the council, which will be free to accept or reject nominees, to substitute its own favorites, and generally to prepare the final list to suit its own wishes. Then the electorate will be asked to "approve" the council's choice.

In explaining the law to the legislators, Mussolini made no effort to camouflage its character. He intends it to be a negation of democracy, which "does not exist in nature," and he is frank in saying that the "mob" is incapable of intelligent participation in the conduct of public affairs. Italy, through her parliamentary system, apparently is willing to confer her unlustered to enjoy democratic institutions. That, of course, is her own lookout. But neither the teachings of Fascism, nor Italy's admission of weakness can be regarded as in any degree determining the future of representative government. Fortunately for democracy, its friends and progress are in the keeping of nations which are not likely to deny their faith for the sake of an autocrat or of a party.—Detroit Free Press.

KANSAS BANS BILLBOARDS.

Slowly but cumulatively evidence piles up that the nation is determined to rid its highways of obnoxious billboards. The latest indication comes from Kansas, where the supreme court has upheld the constitutionality of the law prohibiting signs other than road markers on the rights of way of highways.

Elsewhere throughout the country the fight against the billboards is being steadily waged. Each season sees an increase in the number of persons determined that the roads shall be kept free from unsightly obstructions. Women's clubs, garden clubs, civic organizations of all sorts, are quietly proceeding with the work of public education. The outcome is inevitable, as every motorist in time becomes an opponent of billboards. The advertiser is not content to profit from the use of a medium which is obnoxious to the very people to whom it is designed to appeal.

Every decision such as that handed down in Kansas strengthens the cause of those who wish to see this defacement of the landscape ended. In view of the short time that has elapsed since the campaign against billboards opened the progress has been so great as to make it clear that the movement has the support of the people of all sections.—New York Times.

Progress of Aviation.

The completion of the new airway station at Croydon has given London the best-equipped terminal air station in the world.

The travel time between London and Dublin is to be reduced to four hours by an airplane, and flying-boat service soon to be inaugurated.

The French military establishment will purchase 6,114 airplanes, as compared with 3,460 for Great Britain, 1,760 for Italy, and 3,300 for the United States.

In Canada there is said to be a serious shortage of air pilots, now that commercial flying is being undertaken on a greater scale. To remedy the situation the Dominion government is fostering the formation of airplane clubs throughout the country.

A new automatic fog guide for airplanes is being tested by the Royal Air Force in England. Instruments to keep an airplane on its course in the air have been in use for some time. The new device enables a pilot to make a safe take-off even in a fog so dense that he may be unable to see the wings of his own airplane. At present all aviation activities are forced to suspend in extremely foggy weather.

To do justice and judgment is more acceptable to the Lord than sacrifice.—Proverbs 21:3.

Prayer.—Lord, we would give our hearts to Thee and then we can not but do that which is right and well-pleasing in Thy sight.

Transatlantic Air Travel.

BY GARRETT P. SERVUS.

Now, that the Atlantic has been crossed by airplanes in both directions and by single flight, the question of the best route for transatlantic air travel becomes pressing. As a general authority has remarked, the crossings thus far have been sporting feats, and what is now required is the study of the conditions that make for commercial exploitation of this great new route that runs through the air.

Three conditions are held to control the choice of route. These are (1) weather, (2) distance, and (3) possibility of temporary stoppage. The distance that must be flown in each stage without stop is, of course, also a determining element.

It appears, according to present information, that, all things considered, the safest and most comfortable route for airplanes carrying mail and passengers would be that passing across the Azores islands. The northern route from Ireland to Newfoundland offers the shortest single flight, but experience as well as meteorological shows that it is apt to be troubled with fog, storms and contrary winds, while it is too far north to be in close touch with transatlantic steamships.

Another line is that following the steamship lane. This is longer than the northern route, and offers no opportunity to land between shore and shore. The only advantage that it presents is that of being nearer ships, from which aid or information might be obtained in a crisis.

The third route is that of the Azores. These islands are about 1,400 miles from Bordeaux—first stage—and 2,420 from New York. On this route the winds and weather are apt to be found more favorable than farther north. The relative absence of confusing fog and snow and hail is in itself a valuable factor of safety.

In all discussions of this subject more or less attention is given to the question of artificial landing stations in the sea. In order to be of much value, such stations would have to be situated in mid-ocean, where the difficulties in the way of anchoring and securing them would be greatest. We must remember that the Atlantic is two or three miles deep, and, while it would be possible to find in certain localities submarine elevations greatly diminishing the depth, yet these places are all subject to the full power of the ocean waves in storms, and, even if secure anchorages by long cables or otherwise could be obtained, the anchored platforms would in wild weather be wrenched and strained, tipped at varying inclinations, and swept by great waves, and that just at times when airplanes would have the most need to use them.

Notwithstanding the fact that some of the leaders in aeronautical science and practice are found advocating this scheme of oceanic landing platforms, I can not believe that it will prove practical. A not of attendant risks ships cruising along the route of the regular airplanes would, it seems to me, be more effective as a safety device. But the time should quickly come through the development of the airplanes themselves, their engine power, carrying capacity, cruising radius, etc., when they will be as independent of exterior aid as are the great passenger liners today.—Copyright, 1928, International Feature Service, Inc.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. MINTIERE.

New York, July 7.—There are, according to official tabulations, more than 10,000 Broadway racketeers. That is to say, there are many nimble-witted gentlemen of doubtful character able to wrest a living out of the gullibility of a hard-boiled district.

Peculiarly enough, the slickest sharp angle for suckers in that sophisticated strip between Columbus circle and Herald square, is there they pick up what they call "improvement money." It has often required no more than a southern colonel hat and a black string to bait a victim.

Nothing so convincingly betrays the Broadway sucker complex as the fake jewelry nights that run full blast from noon until eight. They couldn't scare up a handful of customers in Plattsburg, Missouri, during a week, but on Broadway auction rooms filled to overflowing.

The smoothest of the racketeers is a character known as Dapper Dan. The police caught him in their Tenderloin net some time, but he has always managed to get out to go on his way with his tongue in cheek and a terribly hurt look.

There is something about the racketeers rather turbulent life that fascinates ladies. He is seen with them in the place. He seems to appear to them a romantic chivalier instead of a miser gleamer along the way that is white.

The average racketeer has none of the corpulent courage that is often found in underworld character. He is a sleek, pale as the sight of a bluecoat. His sports spent in acquiring a sartorial dogmatism affecting a come-easy-go-easy manner.

Victims of these sharpers are not always boys with the round cheeks and mountain-topped shoes who go back to the brush to make their gold bricks. They are as likely as the city birds, who know all the answers.

Not long ago six Broadway theatricals fell for the "package from Paris" racket. They were paid heavy "custom duty" on packages, which, of course, they never received.

And a gentleman on Forty-Second street Broadway was approached by a glib stranger who inquired to know how a tarnation they would up the big Paramount clock. The city gentleman revealed his biological knowledge at length as they gazed ward at the electrical timepiece. A half later he was not only looking for his watch, but his purse and the pin. He might be added, a writer who has often spezzed in stories of underworld trickery.

Then there is the story of one of the shrewdest of pickpockets who has a midsize his accomplice. They work in heavy. The pickpocket does his work, passing the stuff to his hop-on-my-thumb slide, which variably slips away without being noticed.

And as old as it is—even in these days—the stolen fur racket continues flourish. The victim is approached always in a dark street and in a loft building district a fellow who resembles a truckman. He is the sly impression of having a stolen fur coat. His manner is furtive, and he seems glad to get rid of it for as little as in the dim light it looks a bargain. The article can be purchased for $20 a dozen.

I know of no city so considerate of aged as New York. Newsboys will pause their work to escort old men and women across the street. Traffic cops leave their post at first show of bewilderment on the part of pedestrians. Headwaiters in cafes will invariably give elderly couples choice of seats and even rapacious hat-snatchers look other way when delivering their hats or wigs. It is rather pleasant to be old in New York. Copyright, 1928, by the McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

Employers who keep men at the last possible wages can't see over the top of it. They don't seem to grasp the fact that if a man makes only a living, or he has no money left with which to buy very goods that he is helping to maintain. Wise employers increase the number of but by paying the highest possible wages.

Organized labor, known as union labor not popular in all quarters and all of the activities of organized labor can not be mended. The fact remains that organized labor has been a tremendous factor in making wages high in many lines, and high wages proved to be as good for the manufacturer as the general public as they have for workers. Without good wages there is such thing as general prosperity.

Schwab, chairman of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, says: "I don't believe in social supermen. There are many men in high positions who know more than high school men, and they would prove it if they had opportunity. It is just the time and place chance they want."

What Mr. Schwab did not say is that men get the opportunity, but lack the guts to seize it. They let lesser men talk it out of it. There is no capacity in the world that quite equals the capacity for going to one's own best judgment.

Don't try and make your child and "you. He has his own gifts. His own talent. He has his own sense. Help him to develop himself. We can all be stars if we are self enough to be models, and even if we have no right to try and fashion ourselves our image. The dearest thing a human has is his individuality, his personality, and capacity for self-expression. Give him when necessary, but above all give the chance to be himself.

When Kroger, multimillionaire grocer Cincinnati, gave each of his six children $100,000 each he took a long chance on spoiling their lives. Few people know what to do with $100,000. It represents a tremendous fortune which few are able to grasp, possession of easy money too often destitute incentive to effort, and without incentive effort the human race would make progress.

Dinner Stories.

For a long time the restaurant manager set a sign—"Home Cooking." Then he moved it.

"I see," remarked a customer, "that the sign is gone."

"Well, I came to the conclusion that it doing the place no good. I got to wait the passersby. A great many would look at that sign and then hurry on."

"I notice the Bettsons didn't turn 12 old auto on their new one, after all."

"No. They had the heart to let it into the hands of strangers who might kill it."

REV. IRVIN KAUFFMAN

REV. H. E. WILLIAMSON

REV. W. H. HOWARD

The three Marion pastors pictured above are all natives of Fairfield county. The discovery was made by the three at a recent meeting of the Marion County Ministerial association. Talking over their boyhood experiences in the southern section of Ohio they also learned that they had one other thing in common—all three men began their careers as school teachers.

The Rev. H. E. Williamson, pictured in the center, comes from Bloom township. He is pastor of Oakland Evangelical church. The Rev. W. H. Howard, pictured on the right, is from Bremen. He is pastor of First United Brethren church. The Rev. Irvin Kauffman, pastor of Greenwood Evangelical church, seen at left, is from near Pleasantville.

God's Abounding Favor

A SERMONETTE
BY REV. IRVIN KAUFFMAN
Pastor, Greenwood Evangelical Church
As set forth in the Prophecy of Isaiah—Chapter 55.

1. Abundant Satisfaction—Verse 1.
He, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and he that hath no money; come ye, buy, and eat; yea, come, buy wine and milk without money and without price.
2. Abundant Pardon—Verse 7.
Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts; and let him return unto the Lord, and He will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for He will abundantly pardon.
3. Abundant Joy—Verse 12.
For ye shall go out with joy, and be led forth with peace; the mountains and the hills shall break forth before you into singing, and all the trees of the field shall clap their hands.
4. Abundant Prosperity—Verse 13.
Instead of the thorn shall come up the fir tree, and instead of the brier shall come up the myrtle tree: and it shall be to the Lord for a name, for an everlasting sign that shall not be cut off.

These mercies, offered as freely and in such abundance, are for all those who come to God through Jesus Christ, our Lord.

Just

WHICH ARE YOU?

Keep your head up and your spirits are just bound to soar, quoth a hearty authority, and one who knows her fingers, if I am not mistaken. She even goes further and states, without so much as lifting a well-plucked eyebrow, that correct posture, every day and in every way, is the twentieth century woman's fountain of youth. You don't have to take her word for it, though, just park yourself on the street corner some afternoon and watch yourself go by. Watch 'em going and coming. Don't you feel just a little more gingery when some perky soul comes tripping along with her chin about where the top of the average pedestrian's hat is? She may not be gawking nearly so extensively as the one just ahead or behind her, who is trailing along apparently aimless as to destination or purpose, but isn't she the one you'd rather march with? This goes for the young ones, too, according to this authority.

POSTURE. And speaking of postures, did you ever park yourself in front of a mirror and take a look at yourself as you fall to one of the three-a-days? It's a picture that will make you feel like the days when some one mentioned the name of old Black Joe, that long-a-doo of nursery days, just after you had eaten all the cookies out of the jar in the pantry. It is the most comfortable and by far the easiest thing to do, to drape yourself about the table, knees crossed, elbows resting on the chair top, or to slide two-thirds of the way down midst the spokes of the chair with chin resting on table top. I think we who grab most of our ration from the 24-hour day food galleries are the worst offenders, although I have a hunch that occasionally folks who don't even have to share their diningroom with Tom, Dick and Mary, are prone to be at ease occasionally when only the family faces are peering over the sugar bowl.

FOURTH OF JULY

It was such a relief to find that the majority of children really did have a good time celebrating the anniversary of Independence day, and that they did not sit around twiddling their thumbs and pondering over the majesty of the occasion. In fact I don't think, with their own activities, they even would have had time to go to the platform dance or the balloon ascension or the street parade if there had been one. At least the youngsters that I saw wouldn't. They got an early start the night before by having a bathing party in one of the back yards. It wasn't the most fashionable kind of a bathing party, but it was just as enjoyable. In fact one of the new portable bathing tanks, they used an old tub and their bathing outfits were just what they had worn to play in all day, shoes, socks and dresses, but that meant nothing compared to the fun. And the Fourth of July was a day of days. They started early in the morning perfectly content to remain at home all day. I am sure they must have got their firecrackers out of a magic box, for the supply was inexhaustible, and it was long after dark before the last shriek of merriment died out. Everytime and every place you looked you saw one or more running to or from somewhere, and when it was all over, I am sure that their parents must have gone about picking them up here and there in the yard where the sundown had overtaken them. They had a real day of it, so I guess we folk who have felt so sorry for the youngsters who never knew a real celebration can devote our sympathy to other causes.

How deeply you can sympathize with a man if he isn't asking for sympathy.

People who spend money carefully never hesitate to buy the best when health and comfort are at stake. That's why millions use safe and sure

BENEFITS OF ELECTRO-MAGNETIC THERAPY PROVEN

Dr. Bennet of Lima, Ohio, who has given some 50,000 treatments with Electro-Magnetism has made the following observations:

"Magnetism stimulates tissue metabolism, increases oxidation,—elimination and assimilation are quickened. I have seen in my own family, relief given to a case of acute neuritis—which was more prompt and complete than would have resulted from a hypodermic of morphine."

Hundreds of other authorities agree with Dr. Bennet on the benefits of Electro-Magnetism.
